

In today's dynamic world of business, accountants have expanded the services they provide, making them integral team members in planning, coordinating and controlling the financial activities of businesses.

Getting to the bottom line. When it comes to the accounting program at St. Ambrose, the buzzword is “choices.” With your four-year accounting degree, you can choose a satisfying career in public, managerial or governmental accounting, or other related options. Add on either our 15-hour Certificate in Advanced Accounting or our 30-hour Master of Accounting degree, and you can meet the 150-hour CPA requirement—providing you with the knowledge and skills to be a leader in your chosen career.

What you need to succeed. Our accounting majors are eligible for internships, special scholarships and financial aid, and our curriculum emphasizes financial accounting theory and concepts, information technology, auditing, tax determination and planning, and managerial accounting—everything you need to succeed in college and in your career.

Ambrose Advantages

Relationships with faculty. Studying accounting at St. Ambrose means getting taught by the best; all our accounting professors have accounting experience in the business world and genuinely want to develop a relationship with you.

Skills that employers appreciate. Not only will you graduate with great accounting knowledge, you'll have the benefit of being a well-rounded communicator. Part of your undergraduate coursework will involve honing your written, verbal, and presentation skills—skills that employers and colleagues appreciate.

Experiential learning. As part of your degree program, you will participate in either a service-learning class or an internship with an employer or both. Our curriculum also includes significant case studies and projects that are grounded in real world scenarios and require you to synthesize knowledge from multiple classes.

What you can expect. During your accounting studies you can expect:

- > small class sizes
- > real world accounting experiences shared by all faculty members
- > courses that sharpen your team, presentation, and problem-solving skills
- > an abundance of internship and service-learning opportunities
